16 YEARS OF AGONY

"Such as Only Sufferers from Rheumatism Know." Remarkable Cure of Well-Known North Carolina Farmer.

The Milam Medicine Co., Inc., Danville, Va.

Gentlemen.—About eighteen years ago I was taken with a severe attack of Rheumatism, since which time I have been confined to my bed a greater part of the time, suffering as only those who have had Rheumatism. My physicians could only give me temporary relief at times, and I have also tried every known remedy recommended to me, with the same results. About five months ago my son, who is a druggist in South Boston, Va., advised me to try Milam, and, like a drowning man grasping at a straw, I consented to do so. I want to say for the benefit of my friends and who suffer as I have, that Milam has done all you claim for it, and more. It has been a God-send to me. I am seventy years of age now, and can walk about my farm; my appetite is good; I sleep well; the swelling has left my limbs; my joints have reduced to their normal size, and I feel confident that Milam will make a complete cure of me, even at my advanced age. I have commenced on the fifth bottle, but will continue to take it until I am entirely well. I have asked my friends who come to see me, and I want to say they are many, to tell their friends about the good Milam has done me.

I am writing this letter to you that you may be the means, by this, to relieve some poor sufferer, for they certainly have my sympathy.

Gratefully yours,
S. L. GRISTE,
Chocowinity, N. C., R. F. D. No. 1.

INVITED TO MEET FOR CONFERENCE

Representatives of Virginia Schools Called to Gather at University.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Charlottesville, Va., October 5.—A big educational conference will be held at the University of Virginia on October 25 and 26. At President Alderman's direction, invitations were sent yesterday to all of the accredited schools on the university's records, both public and private, as well as to all first grade high schools not yet affiliated, and to all second grade high schools that are working towards the standard for accrediting.

Representatives from these institutions will unite with the university faculty in round-table discussions of every phase of the educational problem as it appears in Virginia. There will be no fixed program, no prepared papers and no long speeches. The discussions will be informal and intimate, and will touch upon all the questions that may be perplexing school teachers and superintendents and the university faculty.

On the evening of October 25 the delegates will be the guests of the university at dinner, after which the round-table discussions will be continued.

Professor Charles A. Maples, professor of secondary education, has general charge of the conference. Speaking of the aim and purpose of it, he said:

"The public school system of Virginia consists of the elementary schools, the high schools, the normal schools, the technical schools and the State university. Between them there is a logical sequence, and there should be a close and intimate relationship. Each should be a co-operating part rather than an independent unit in order that the most effective results may be obtained. 'Between the high schools and the University of Virginia, especially, there should be cordial and sympathetic co-operation, and it is the desire of President Alderman and the faculty of the university that the relationship shall at all times be mutually helpful. The university is able and anxious to help the high schools and other schools of the State with their problems, and they may assist the university in seeing more clearly the ever-changing social and economic problems, which our educational system must solve, because they are nearer to many of them. To the extent that this friendly and helpful relationship may be further fostered and co-operative affiliation more completely established, the president and faculty of the university have issued an invitation to representatives of all these units in our great educational system to meet at the university for a conference."

CRUSADE TAKES STARTLING TURN

Court Demands That "Key" to Report of Vice-Commission Be Produced.

Chicago, October 5.—The crusade against vice, conducted by State Attorney John E. Wayne, yesterday took a startling turn when the request of the State's attorney Judge Henry C. Moran, of the Municipal Court, issued subpoenas duces tecum for the production of the key to the report of the vice commission which was made public about two years ago. The key has since remained in the archives of the commission. When the report was first published it contained much information of a startling nature. Many inmates and resort keepers furnished most of this information, their identities being concealed through the medium of a number of aliases in place of names.

In order to have the benefit of this information the subpoenas were issued against Dean Walter T. Sumner, of St. Peter and Paul Cathedral, and Edward W. Sims, former United States district attorney here. Mr. Sims was the secretary of the commission. In response to the subpoenas, Mr. Sims appeared in Judge Moran's court and made a vigorous effort to prevent the production of the key report. He explained that when the commission disbanded in 1910 the key, which virtually is a directory of all the owners, keepers, disorderly hotels and their inmates in the city, was placed in the hands of a committee of five, of which he is a member. The information, he said, was not obtained for the purpose of prosecution, but was the result of private investigation, and given in the belief that the commission would not divulge the same against themselves. Assistant State's Attorney Arnold advised that Mr. Sims should speak to the other members of his committee and see if they were willing the key should be given to the prosecutor's office. He said he had no objection to its production, and he gave a right to use it as long as the defendants do not have to take the stand against themselves. Assistant State's Attorney Arnold said: "We want to use it in all the cases where it will be admissible as evidence. Judge Moran said the case until Monday when, if the commission still is determined not to release the key, legal arguments would have to be made."

LAYMEN'S MISSIONARY CONVENTION IN DURHAM

Durham, N. C., October 5.—State Secretary, L. B. Padgett has arrived in Durham and opened headquarters for the Laymen's Missionary Movement Convention in the Y. M. C. A. building, where the work of preparation for the big laymen's convention to be held here October 31 and November 1, will be carried on. The prospects are that a great gathering of the church men of Central North Carolina will be the outcome of this proposed convention. The campaign is on. A large steamer has been placed at the dockside to announce its location. Other steamers will be placed about the city calling attention to the October-November convention.

Asheville, N. C., October 5.—Dependent because of ill health, which resulted in long periods of insomnia, F. Rogers Grant, forty-eight years old, president of the Great Realty Company, of this city, shot himself shortly after noon yesterday, inflicting wounds which resulted in his death at the Winston Hospital two hours later. He was found lying in the woods of the Victoria section with two bullet wounds in the right breast, from which blood flowed profusely. Physicians who were called to the body found that he had committed suicide.

CLOSING OF FAIR AT CHASE CITY

Exhibits Remarkably Good—Excellent Showing by Corn Club Boys.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Chase City, Va., October 5.—The exhibits at the Mecklenburg County Fair, held at Chase City, which closed yesterday, were remarkably good, considering the drought of the past summer. The live stock exhibit was a great improvement over last year, and many of the entries here will go to the State Fair at Richmond next week. The Boy Corn Club Association for Mecklenburg County, under the supervision of T. O. Sandy, elected Norman Williams, Jr., as the young man to have charge of its exhibit at the State Fair in Richmond. Governor Mann was loud in his praise of the excellent showing made by the Mecklenburg boys.

N. D. Potts won first premium for red pole cattle; N. E. Williams and C. S. Gordon won first premium for cows. The premium for Berkshire hogs was won by F. M. Rand; sows by J. A. Price. The premium pole chine hogs won by J. A. Price. C. S. Gordon and N. D. Potts captured the premium for sheep.

The judges of the live stock exhibits were Colonel J. T. Goode, J. A. Wimbush and R. L. Jeffery.

One feature of the exhibits which attracted a large number of visitors and much attention was that by the Southern Railway Company, which occupied an entire building, showing many kinds of fruit which had been raised in Southeast Virginia.

One of the largest buildings on the ground was known as the woman's building, on one side of which was a display showing what the women of Mecklenburg County could accomplish with their needle, for which thirty premiums were awarded. On the opposite side of this building, arranged in attractive form, was shown the science of the kitchen, for which thirty old premiums were offered.

The first premium winners of the tobacco, corn and cotton exhibit were J. E. Brann, W. T. Jarrell, R. B. Hutchison and J. L. Woodyard.

Sum of $75,000 Promised if an Additional $100,000 Is Raised.

Abingdon, Va., October 5.—Matters of interest to Emory and Henry College were distinctive in the proceedings of Holston Conference here yesterday. The general board of education promised $50,000 and Andrew Carnegie $25,000 in case an extra $100,000 can be secured from outside sources on or by June 30, 1913.

Thirty thousand dollars of the required amount has already been raised, and the conference board of education urged that the conference committee itself fully to the great task of raising the extra $75,000.

Committee and subcommittees were appointed and active preparations were made to push the collection of all subscriptions, both small and large.

Twenty-seven men were appointed to compose the board of trustees of Emory and Henry College, those men to have terms of office varying from two to six years.

Quitting plants and subcommittees were admitted on trial, and some were promoted to the second year and some to the third.

Louis J. Bernhardt conducted devotional exercises in the afternoon, and Bishop Kilgo preached at night. More than 200 delegates are present, and great interest is manifested both by the conference and the people.

Nalle-Hurt.
Stevensburg, Va., October 5.—A beautiful marriage was solemnized on Wednesday in the Baptist Church at Stevensburg, the principals being Miss Arabella Bolling Hurt and Dr. Orville Nalle. The church was adorned with flowers, and running pine, growing plants and running pine, and the bride and groom were seated under these on the right and left were guests, each opened by two little girls, as follows: Julia Burton and Hilda Jones. "To Believe Me" was sung by Miss Jessie Willis just previous to the entrance of the bride and groom.

The wedding march was rendered by Mrs. Lucius Davis. The beautiful ring service was performed by Rev. George W. Hurt, father of the bride. George was flower girl, and the wedding ring was placed on a silver tray by Harry Willis, Jr.

Miss Laura Hurt, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Mrs. J. Jeter Hurt, of Durham, N. C., aunt of the bride, was matron of honor. Jason Nalle, of Washington, D. C., cousin of the groom, was best man, and the others were George Hiden, Wirt Hurt, brother of the bride, Irvine Farr and Gordon Willis. The bridesmaids were Misses Susie Rogers, of Chambersburg; Mae Stringer, of Washington; and Lillian Jordan.

The bride's gown was pearl white, charming, as the lace trimmings. Her only ornament was a handsome cameo worn by her maternal grandmother on her wedding day, sixty-five years ago.

The bride entered the church with her brother, George W. Hurt, who gave her away.

The bride is well known throughout Virginia. She is a niece of Rev. John Jeter Hurt, of Durham, N. C., and of Judge Porton Hobson, of Frankfort, Ky. The groom is a graduate of medicine of the University of Virginia, a brother of the late General William Nalle, and one of the most prominent business men of Culpeper.

Rev. and Mrs. Hurt entertained for several days at the parsonage a house party, consisting of a number of friends and relatives. Among them the paternal grandmother of the bride, who has given four sons to the Baptist ministry.

Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride where a luncheon was served, after which Dr. and Mrs. Nalle left for an extended Northern and Western tour.

After October 10 Dr. and Mrs. Nalle will be at their home near Brandy.
